

My Dad says he uses Fusion Provida because they can deliver all his multi-utility materials direct to site.

So! My Dad says Fusion Provida is always making life easier for him by seeking out new suppliers like Electrosteel for ductile iron and Aeon for valves.

My Mum says that Fusion Provida's hire and service division has the biggest fleet of butt fusion machines and electrofusion boxes in the UK.

Yes, but my Mum says they also hire out coiled pipe and cable drum trailers, generators, moles and all sorts of equipment she needs on site.

My Dad says that all his meters are pre-assembled and tested by Meter Provida. He says they're already in the meter box so he only has one connection to make.

That's nothing! My Dad is back home much earlier because he uses Origin's technology to capture and send information from site to his head office without any paperwork.

My Mum can check up on her company's energy and water consumption from home using the Qconnectis internet-enabled automatic meter reading system.

Beat this...
My Mum's going to IWEX 2003 in November to visit the Fusion Provida stand. She's also found out about Fusion Provida's four product demonstrations at the show by logging on to www.iwex.co.uk.

'My Mum and Dad are going to IWEX'

Make sure your Mum and Dad don't miss out. Get them to visit Fusion Provida on stand C36 at IWEX 2003, 11-13 November and talk to Kenny, Mike or Alan.

If they can't make it – don't worry. Just ask them to contact Neal Lambert at the National Sales Office on 01246-262820 and he'll arrange for someone to visit them so they won't miss out on a thing.
